How does Illinois Free Legal Answers work?

Once a user posts a question, it is in a queue to be answered by a volunteer-lawyer. A user can indicate if there is time sensitivity to the question so that it will get prioritized in the queue. Volunteer-lawyers choose which question to answer, so there is no guarantee that a question will be answered. Once a lawyer answers a question, the user will receive an email that their question has been answered. The lawyer has the choice either to answer the question and then close it out in the system, or to answer the question and to allow the user to ask a follow up question or to provide additional information. The system is asynchronous – it is not a live interaction between the user and the lawyer.

Who are the lawyers answering the questions?

The site relies on volunteer lawyers to answer the questions. A volunteer-lawyer must be licensed and in good standing.

How is Illinois Free Legal Answers Responding to the COVID-19 Crisis?

We understand that, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, many court help desks, legal clinics and legal aid offices are currently closed around the state. To try and help the situation, PILI has set up the COVID-19 Illinois Free Legal Answers Task Force. Volunteers who have signed up for the COVID-19 Illinois Free Legal Answers Task Force have indicated that they are available to answer questions from low-income clients during this time of crisis. If agencies are experiencing a greater demand for help than they can respond to, they can provide Illinois Free Legal Answers as a resource to qualifying clients.
